Don't Believe Everything You Read Online: Recent Sanctions Decision Offers Cautionary Tale of Generative AI Risks

Day Pitney Litigation Partners Gregory Bruno and Alfred W.J. Marks authored "Don't Believe Everything You Read Online: Recent Sanctions Decision Offers Cautionary Tale of Generative AI Risks" for the New York Law Journal's Special Litigation Section.

The article discusses the implications of the 'Samuel' case, especially for Surrogate's Court practitioners. As the use of generative AI tools becomes more prevalent, this decision serves as an important reminder of the age-old adage: don't believe everything you read on the internet.
