Mootness Fees Are Losing Traction in Del. And Federal Courts

Day Pitney Litigation Partner Paul Marino and Senior Associate Michael Fialkoff authored an article for Law360 titled, "Mootness Fees Are Losing Traction in Del. And Federal Courts." The article discusses the recent Delaware Chancery Court opinion in Anderson v. Magellan Health Inc., and how both the Delaware Chancery Court and federal courts nationwide have recently been making it more difficult for plaintiffs' attorneys to obtain mootness fees in merger litigation.
