September 18, 2018

Geographic Information Systems For Environmental Litigation

Jonathan Handler and Sylvia-Rebecca Gutiérrez co-authored an article, "Geographic Information Systems For Environmental Litigation," published by Bloomberg Environment's Environment & Energy Report. The article discusses the application of Geographic Information Systems (GIS) in environmental and product liability litigation and provides examples of cases in which GIS technology has been essential to the advancement of a case. The co-authors, Matthew J. Mayo and Maggie Pollock, are scientists associated with Gradient, an environmental and risk sciences consulting firm.

Authors

Jonathan I. Handler
Partner

Boston, MA | (617) 345-4734

jihandler@daypitney.com