Overview

Alexandra Brantly advises high-net-worth individuals and families on a broad range of trust and estate matters, with a focus on supporting families in special needs planning. Her practice includes preparing complex tax returns for individuals and trusts, assisting with estate planning, and providing guidance on personal income tax matters. Alexandra also has experience in corporate and individual state and local tax (SALT) issues, including managing multi-million-dollar portfolios, domicile changes, and audit defense. In addition, she has counseled clients on mergers and acquisitions, tax due diligence, post-transaction planning, and compliance review.
