Overview

Sarah A. Billeri represents institutional lenders, mortgage loan servicers and financial institutions in disputes involving mortgage default servicing, contested foreclosure, loan servicing, post-foreclosure possession, title-clearing issues and alleged unfair or deceptive business practices.

Sarah's practice includes defending claims arising under Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 93A, as well as state and common law claims involving lender and servicer practices. She has substantial experience litigating in Massachusetts and New Hampshire state and federal courts, including discovery, dispositive motions, depositions, mediations, settlement negotiations, and trial practice. Sarah brings a practical understanding of the default servicing industry and experience managing fast-moving litigation while keeping business, operational and reputational risk in view.
