Based in Hartford, Dubin works with Day Pitney attorneys across multiple practice areas to tailor information governance strategies and discovery management plans for U.S. matters for clients globally. She serves as an eDiscovery liaison in jurisdictions across the United States, negotiating the use of technology assisted review, including the use of generative AI, and litigates motions related to discovery disputes. Clients' in-house legal counsel, technology teams, and records management departments collaborate with Dubin to develop and implement best practices for discovery and information governance. She develops internal and external discovery guidelines addressing each phase of the Electronic Discovery Reference Model (EDRM) and Information Governance Reference Model (IGRM), including the implementation of AI tools and policies along with the preservation of AI-generated content. Clients frequently rely on her to negotiate with federal and state government agencies, U.S. Attorneys' offices, and private parties in discovery and provide innovative and highly customized protocols to optimize data preservation and collection.

Dubin has earned numerous accolades for her contributions to the legal and technology fields. She was recognized on the 2024 Lawdragon 500 X – The Next Generation List (click here for the Lawdragon methodology) and selected to the list of Connecticut Super Lawyers Rising Stars (Thomson Reuters) for E-Discovery in 2024 (click here for Super Lawyers methodology). In addition, Dubin received an Innovation Leadership Award as part of Corporate Counsel's 2024 Women, Influence and Power in Law (WIPL) Awards (click here for Corporate Counsel's Women, Influence and Power in Law methodology). In 2023 and 2024, she was named a Legal Innovators & Disrupters Winner by the Connecticut Law Tribune's (CLT) New England Legal Awards (click here for CLT's methodology). Further, she was selected as a 2023 Young Professional to Watch by the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA) (click here for ILTA's methodology).

Dubin is a member of the American Bar Association, the Connecticut Bar Association, the Connecticut Business & Industry Association, the International Legal Technology Association, the Sedona Conference, and Women in eDiscovery. She is a frequent speaker and writer on AI issues, including governance at the international, federal, and state level. She earned her B.A. from Goucher College and her J.D. from New England School of Law. Dubin is admitted to practice in Connecticut and Maryland.
