Day Pitney Unveils Enhanced New Jersey Office in Parsippany to Support Clients and Growth

Day Pitney LLP announced today that it has relocated its New Jersey office to 8 Sylvan Way, one of Parsippany region's premier office buildings. "This move reinforces the firm's commitment to its rich 100+ year history in New Jersey, and it lends itself to a better client experience in a contemporary and modern space," according to New Jersey Office Managing Partner Paul R. Marino.

With 13 offices in the United States, the New Jersey office relocation is the most recent in a series of moves that Day Pitney has made over the last several years to modernize the firm's office space to better meet the current and future needs of its attorneys, staff, and clients.

"We're thrilled to move into a space that offers cutting-edge technology, state-of-the-art resources, and a more modern, efficient layout to better serve our clients and friends in New Jersey and beyond," said Marino. "We were intentional in selecting a location with top-tier amenities and accessibility. The design reflects a modern, efficient use of space and underscores our ongoing investment in the region."

Rising three stories at 8 Sylvan Way, the building is conveniently located near various dining and retail options, as well as local city centers and major airports. Redeveloped initially in 2009, the property is undergoing a comprehensive capital improvement plan in 2025, which includes enhancements to the parking lot, the addition of EV charging stations, improvements to the surrounding walking trails, as well as modern updates to the building's lobby, training rooms, boardroom, dining space, and fitness center.
