Litigation Departments of the Year - Labor and Employment Finalist: Day Pitney

New Jersey Employment and Labor practice was recently featured in the New Jersey Law Journal / Law.com Q&A titled "Litigation Departments of the Year – Labor and Employment Finalist: Day Pitney," as part of the 2025 New Jersey Legal Awards. In the piece, Employment and Labor practice chair Rachel A. Gonzalez highlights Day Pitney's Employment and Labor Practice's full-service approach, notable 2024 client successes, and strategic use of technology to deliver agile, business-focused counsel in a rapidly evolving legal landscape. She also notes that the firm continues to navigate client and market pressures by prioritizing value over cost—building right-sized teams and fostering a collaborative culture that ensures efficient, high-quality results.

"At the heart of our Employment and Labor Practice group is a steadfast commitment to client service—listening closely, anticipating needs, and delivering practical, business-focused solutions. What has shifted is the pace of change and level of complexity, requiring us to be more adaptable, proactive, and innovative than ever," she noted.
