Day Pitney's New Environmental Vice Chair on Role

Day Pitney Environmental Partner Todd Terhune was featured by Law360 Pulse in a Q&A article discussing his arrival to the firm and his position as Vice Chair of the Environmental practice.

"One of the main attractions for me was the firm's willingness and desire to offer me the opportunity to expand its well-established Environmental practice. I am coming in as Vice Chair of the Environmental practice and will work with Beth Barton, Partner and Chair of our Environmental practice, to identify opportunities to expand and bolster our environmental practice up and down the East Coast."
