Day Pitney Partner Francine Esposito Made Honorary Alumna at St. Benedict's Prep School in Newark for Pro Bono Work

On March 27, New Jersey Partner Francine Esposito was made an honorary alumna of St. Benedict's Prep School in Newark, NJ due to her pro bono employment law guidance and training over more than a decade.

The 160-year old School now educates a diverse body of nearly 1,000 male and female students in grades K through 12. Approximately 86% of its high-school graduates complete college within 6 years of graduation (50% better than the national average). The School's success and innovative methods in preparing disadvantaged students for college and successful careers have been nationally recognized, including on CBS's 60 Minutes, ABC News, and PBS Frontline, in documentary films, and in appearances before Congress. As a result, the School is highly sought after to consult for private and public schools around the country and world.
