Law360 Pulse Q&A With Shant Chalian

Shant Chalian was featured in a Law360 Pulse Q&A regarding his practice and decision to join Day Pitney.

Chalian shared that he joined because he saw the firm as having "a deeper investment management practice where he could continue [his] career growth." His practice revolves around various components under the investment management umbrella, including fund formation, mergers and acquisitions, seed and mezzanine financing and venture capital investment.

Peter Bilfield, co-leader of Day Pitney's Investment Management and Private Funds practice, commented on the firm's practice and how Chalian will add to the team, "In addition to the significant increase we are seeing this year in fund formation work from U.S. sponsor clients as well as our non-U.S. sponsor clients in Europe and Asia, we are also working with investment managers and other advisors in connection with M&A, spin-out, recapitalizations and management buy-out transactions. Shant's deep M&A and fund formation experience will help us better serve our investment management clients."
